Schools can

Nineteen hundred and fifty-one . . . more than fifty memorable, history-making years have passed. But what changes they have wrought!

The little one-room schoolhouse has been replaced by the modern brick structure. Students now ponder not alone over the 3 R's, but over more up-to-date problems such as vocational guidance, atomic research and analytical geometry. Slightly "beat-up" saddles supplant the very fashionable high button shoes, and feather bobs pronounce once popular pompadours as outdated. B. H. S. athletes no longer "sink that ball" into the antiquated peach basket, but now "peg their shots" into the modern netted hoops. The psychologist of today frowns upon the use of the dreaded hickory stick. The Charleston stages a popular comeback to prove that all changes aren't new ones.

The development, progress and advancement of the past half-century are featured as definite highlights in this, the 1951 RETROSPECT.

Left (top to bottom): Our summer vacation drawing to an untimely close, we found it a decided effort to sit in one seat for an hour stretch during the autumn months. A virtual winter wonderland could often be observed from our school windows, since this was a year for record snow fall. Welcome always is spring greenery during the metamorphosis of the seasons.

Administration —

Yes, our schools have changed! We have progressed from the one-room school of yesteryear to our spacious system of buildings today, and many changes are yet to come.

Plans have been completed for a new gymnasium-auditorium, which will accommodate four thousand people. There will be modern dressing rooms and athletic offices. The building will also include classrooms for industrial arts, band, vocational home economics and agriculture.

But these changes can be made only through expert leadership. We have this in our board of education. Dr. Brickley, through his everyday contact with the community, Mr. Markley, as a sports' enthusiast, and Mr. Edris, as a civic-minded lawyer, realize that more and more space will be needed. Our school board has made many improvements in the past and all indications are that they will make many more in the future.

Right, top: Dr. H. D. Brickley, one of Bluffton's leading physicians, serves efficiently as the president of the board.

Center: Mr. Homer Markley, employed in Ft. Wayne, performs the role of board secretary by keeping accurate B. H. S. records.

Bottom: Mr. John Edris, a well-known Parlor City lawyer, capably fills the exacting position of board treasurer.

plan for future changes.

Superintendent Willey discusses Y-Teen receipts and expenditures with Shirley Reiff

Pleasant and sympathetic, but authoritative and deliberate, he constantly works at promoting the best in education for the Bluffton students. Working with our school board, he enthusiastically advances any projects for the development of a better educational system. Much credit goes to our competent superintendent, Mr. Willey, for helping plan and devise changes for progressive procedure in the future

Principal Park supplies Jim Bachelor with sage advice and a wealth of career information

Friendly and helpful, yet stern and dynamic, he advises and counsels with us in our efforts to cope with the problems of today. He capably leads us through our dark moments and shares in our joys and happiness. Many thanks for the untiring efforts of our principal, Mr. Park, in helping us to build a sturdy foundation for a worthy life

Secretaries Sills and Dotterer smile, even though that stencil obviously spells work ahead

Whether signing pass slips or typing reports, our secretaries always have time for personalized service. Mrs. Sills, secretary to the principal, maintains a record of absentees, tardiness, scholastic achievement and other student activities. Mrs. Dotterer, the former Phyllis Gerber, who is secretary to the superintendent, keeps a detailed account of the financial status of the schools and their organizations and orders all supplies

Open Letter to B. H. S.

Dear Colleagues

It's been a busy year; (counterclockwise) Our class officers, Johnson, vice-pres.; Johnston, pres.; Meyer, athletic council; Baird, sec.; and O'Brien, treas., led our class play campaign . . . Don't see how those ping pong fanatics, Crandall and E. Betz, ever found time to indulge with so much doing. . . . We had chest X-rays Oct. 24. Reiff stood in line two hours for hers. . . . Some of the boys, (top to bottom) Wenger, Meyer, Earhart, Hedges, Moser, Kipfer, Johnson, Johnston, Costello and Fitzpatrick, were chosen as Sr. Rotarians. . . . Incidents seem to happen faster than our editors, Park, Tvndall and Baird, can record

(clockwise): Our untiring sponsors, Mr. Ratliff, Miss Powers and Mr. Ulmer, coped with ticket sales and concession stands. . . . Remember that huge Christmas tree that Hi-Y'er Wile and Croy helped decorate? . . . Carolyn Noonan wasn't the only senior who puzzled over dance jingles! Our school played host for the district Hi-Y and Tri-Y conference—Fitzpatrick and Johnston enjoyed the interesting "meetings"

And as history was being made, Art Reed was making a pictorial record of it (model-Carolyn Grover)

Yes, it has been a busy year!

Your doting classmates,

Seniors

Jay Kipfer . . . efficient records, not chaos.

Joyce Tyndall . . . big decisions to be made.

Norma Park . . . in every picture, a story.

Nancy Baird . . . much ado about a deadline

Retrospect — deadline met, dream realized

"But where will we find a 'flapper dress'?"

Times have changed. Joyce Tyndall and Norma Park became more and more aware of this fact as the book progressed. Nancy Baird raced with time to get her copy in before press date. Play-by-play accounts of the "sports world" were related to us by our sports editor, Chuck Biltin, and his assistants, Jim Costello and Jim Fitzpatrick, while illegible copy was interpreted by Marilyn Harnish, Gerrie Perry, Barbara Byrd and Doris Wilson, typists. Our photographic editors, Art Reed and Bill Wile, furnished us with many on-the-spot snaps. In our effort to prepare for and meet the deadline, our editorial adviser, Mrs. Wilkinson, doggedly steered us.

Jay Kipfer, under Mr. Park's guidance, had more than his share of headaches managing the many business details of our book.

All our anxious moments were rewarded when our finished copper-colored volume was in our hands.

Comet — edited by underclassmen

An informed student body and faculty for Bluffton High School is the goal of the school paper, the "Comet."

The "Comet" affords those who are interested in the field of journalism a chance to experiment and learn. The editorial staff this year was made up largely of underclassmen who had had little experience in the ways of the press. This obstacle admirably overcome, a worthwhile selection of issues was published. The staff considers the traditional green and white Christmas edition and the sectional tourney copy, with the wealth of information on our foes, its finest publications.

Ned Carnall, a sophomore, served as editor-in-chief while Joyce Feters led the business staff. The unheralded financial workers are responsible for the circulation of the paper and the soliciting of ads. Mr. Park was the much needed adviser.

Often it meant working overtime to make the deadline, but with all the hard work came a great amount of satisfaction and pride in seeing the finished articles in print.

National Honor Society — stresses scholarship, service character, leadership

Once again the students of B. H. S. made their way to the gymnasium. The air was tense, the audience became quiet quickly. Jim Fitzpatrick, president, gave the introduction. Sharon Sutton, the secretary, read the names of the newly elected members. The students gave their cap of approval as Nancy Baird, Marilyn Harnish, William Johnson, Norma Park, Thomas Pfister, Shirley Reiff, Darr Brickley, Sue Markay, Fred Nickel and Nancy Sprague walked to the stage.

Jay Tyndall and Jay Kipfer, continuing with the ceremony, told that eligibility for the society is based upon four cardinal principles—scholarship, leadership, character and service, and that in order to be elected one has to be in the upper third of his class. The initiates stood and repeated the pledge. As the induction came to an end, membership certificates and pins were given to the new members. As the curtains closed, those present realized that the thrilling moment had come and gone.

Newly elected officers are Ken Johnston, president, Fred Nickel, vice-president, and Nancy Baird, secretary. The organization is excellently sponsored by Miss Powers.

Student Council — democratic government in the making

'Quiet' The meeting will now come to order. Parliamentary procedure will prevail.

The Student Council functions in a legislative capacity to consider the welfare and progress of the students of Allen High School, to try to create a better relationship between the students and the faculty and to sponsor worthwhile programs for the students.

The council is composed of the presidents of the senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman classes, presidents of the Hi-Y, Future Farmers of America, Y Teen, National Honor Society, Quilt and Scroll, Band, Girls Glee Club and Girls Athletic Association, the editors-in-chief of both the Retrospect and Comet, and a representative from each home room. Officers for this year were Don Wenger, president and Sharon Sutton, secretary.

During the past year the council under the guiding hand of Mr. Park, has set up committees for selecting convocation programs for the year. The making of banners to represent each of the Northeastern Indiana Conference teams, which were placed in the gymnasium during the basketball season, was directed by a council committee.

Many of the problems of the student groups were discussed, adjusted and improved.

Future Farmers

The forty acres of land which was farmed by Bluffton's chapter of the F.F.A., not only replenished the treasury, but gave practical experience in farming as well. This affords an agricultural laboratory in which new farming methods are tested—learning by doing.

Thirteen juniors and seniors of the chapter made a three-day trip to Chicago in December. Ten members earned their Chapter Farmer Degrees and were presented F.F.A. jackets.

The leadership, cooperation and citizenship which are developed in this training will make worth-while Future Farmers of America.

Quill and Scroll

The Peggy Goodin Chapter of Quill and Scroll is now our official title on the international records of the society. The national prominence Miss Goodin has achieved in the field of writing made her an overwhelming choice.

Juniors and seniors, in the upper third of their classes, who have done superior work in journalism are eligible for membership in Quill and Scroll.

Rem Johnston served as host at an initiation banquet. Following the ceremony each new member was presented with a pin and membership card. Mrs. Wilkinson is our new adviser.

Latin Club

The Sodalitas Latinae has as its purpose to extend Latin further into our social lives and to show how closely related Latin and English really are. Having been organized in 1949, the club is still young.

In the realization of its goal, the foreign language contingent has learned that both work and pleasure are useful. Although the membership was relatively small, it did little to dampen the enthusiasm for social gatherings. A party at the State Forest and a supper and Christmas exchange at Joyce Tyndall's home were '50-51 highlights.

Math Club

The Arc of Alpha, during its third year has furthered its aims of increasing the knowledge of mathematics; learning to perfect skills in geometry, algebra and other mathematics; giving service to the community and nation, and understanding the importance of mathematics in life.

The members spent many hours working on a blackboard graph stencil which was the club project for '50-51.

The organization was divided into the following committees: The Euclidean Rulers, The Archimedeans, The Nupierian Twigs, The Pythagoranites, Hero's Angels and Watt's Chain Gang.

Hi-Y — host District Officers' Training Conference

The Bluffton Hi-Y club hosted the District Officers' Training Conference in the fall. Christmas baskets for the needy and a tuberculosis drive were among the charitable activities.

The last fling of the year was the annual Best Girl Banquet. Here the '50-51 officers, Rem Johnston, president; Bill Wile, vice-president; Chad Fornshell, secretary; Bill Johnson, treasurer; and Mr. Ulmer, sponsor, welcomed next year's officers.

Each member strives to live according to the Hi-Y standards: clean sports, clean scholarship, clean speech and clean living

Mother is a Freshman — plays to record-smashing crowd

"Operator! Operator! This call is a matter of life and death!" These words desperately spoken by Susan Abbott, provided the opening curtain cue

The audience was receptive as Susan and her mother vied for the affections of Professor Michaels. Further intrigue was added by gossipy Clara and stern Dean Gillingham, who almost succeeded in expelling Mother.

Our efforts were well rewarded both by the breaking of the ticket sales record and by the loud ring of applause as the final curtain fell

The image displays four horizontal rows of a repeating decorative pattern. Each row consists of a series of dark, stylized, curved shapes that resemble small, stylized figures or abstract motifs. These shapes are arranged in a slightly undulating line across each row. The background is a light, textured surface, and the overall appearance is that of a decorative border or a series of small, stylized figures.

Basketball — "Hoosier Hoopla" claims many fans

The 'hoop-happy' Tigers and Mentor Doc Compton finished a very rugged season with an undisputed second place in the N. E. I. C. losing only two conference games.

This year's courtmen were a well balanced crew with poise and natural teamwork, though they sometimes lacked the consistency to pull them through. There were those cold nights when our netters couldn't seem to find the range.

The season as a whole was one of the most thrilling to be seen in "Tiger Town" for many years. The cagers played five out of nine home games with less than four points as a final margin. Ironically, our hardwooders came through when the opposition was the stiffest, e. g., South Side, Auburn, Kendallville, Decatur.

Excitement was the word even to the end of the season in the Hoosier Sectional Classic. Rockcreek's Hal Arnold sunk a twenty-five foot peg as the final gun sounded the bucket broke a tie which brought a sad climax to the thrilling rally of the Bluffton five.

Dick Worthman was chosen first team guard and Don Knox and Bill Moser honorable mention on the N. E. I. C. All-Conference team.

Baseball — Tigers proud of new dugouts

The Tiger diamond nine won five out of ten games for Coach Compton and his "work-horse" hurlers. "Romney" Braun pitched twenty-five and two-thirds innings with nineteen hits and won two games, one a two-hitter. "Yogi" Grove delivered twenty-four and one-third innings allowing only sixteen hits. He also won two games, one a two-hitter. The record is as follows:

Track and Field — Cindermen break records

Only four trackster cindermen returned to begin the 1940 track and field season. They performed in four tracks, the track team won one meet and placed second in two other meets, amassing a total of 396 points.

Dick Magley grasped third place in the half-mile run of the state finals and graduation left a record half-mile of 2:01.3, but soon to be eclipsed. Team work, agility and speed were in further evidence in the mile relay team composed of Kay Farhart, Don Gray, Stan Nash and Dick Magley. The afternoon of the Columbia City meet this fact-feted quartet broke the existing Wilson Field record and set a new 5:41.2 mile relay time.

Coach of the victorious 1940 cindermen was Mr. Leslie Dodd, with Dave Park and Charles Smith student managers.

We, 59½, Dunkirk 49½; We, 46½, Royerton 25; We 48, Decatur 55, Berne 29; We 35, Columbia City 74; Marion Relays 46; We 47, Portland 39; Central Catholic 66; We 30, Ft. Wayne Central 32; Huntington 40½; Conference 25.

G. A. A. — many strive for coveted letters

"Tumbling tonight? Oh, my aching back!"—quite a familiar phrase around the halls of B. H. S. come Wednesday evening. Even though every sport isn't equally popular with every participant, the Girls' Athletic Association has striven towards its goal of stimulating good health, better sportsmanship and clean living among the weaker sex.

Through the medium of soccer, stunts and tumbling, basketball and a host of other activities (see below), Miss Sullivan, sponsor, and the G. A. A. officers, President Sharon Sutton, Vice-President Kay Hefty, Secretary Diann Brickley and Treasurer Joan Stogdill, have tried and are succeeding in creating a rich, lucrative program. The bulk of the membership comes from the freshman class, which largely accounts for the unbridled enthusiasm.

Collecting the autographs of ten boys on a raw egg, counting the windows in the school and obtaining a 1948 calendar were just a few items comprising the informal initiation. Having survived this as well as the formal ceremony, and having climbed the ladder of the G. A. A. merit system, a girl is eligible for the coveted black major "B."

WE HOPE YOU LIKE YOUR ANNUAL—

We've tried through its theme "This Changing World", to record for you an accurate picture of your school year 1950-51

We would like this book to live, not only now but in later years when you'll want to turn the pages and remember the classes the dances and games big and little events sports teachers our fashions All of these will remain products of "This Changing World."

We would like to make special acknowledgements to the following for their part in making our yearbook a realization

The R&S Studio—for photography

Mr. Tom Broom and The Ft. Wayne Engraving Co. — for personalized service

Mr. Jack Bundy and The S. K. Smith Co. — for covers

The Berne Witness Co. — for printing and binding

Mr. Rem Johnston — for end-sheet printing

The Ft. Wayne Journal-Gazette — for South Side football action shots

To everyone who helped

The Editors

Now full fledged graduates, Janie Houchin, Cynthia Humphrey, Jay Kipper and Bob Miller, seem proud of their accomplishment.
